

Assumptions:

- Channel flow (non-linear viscous)
- No change in velocity along length of channel
- Upper (surf) and lower (base) temperatures are constant

Questions:

- How long is the channel?
- How thick is the channel?
- What temperature should be assumed in the channel at the start?
- Should the temperature on the left end of the channel be a constant?